

THE ALTGELD VOTE WILL GO TO BLAND

ILLINOIS DELEGATES CAUCUS THIS MORNING.

Populist Committee Pledge the Support of the "Wild-Eyes" to Teller if the Democratic Convention Place Him in Nomination—Notes From Chicago's Big Gathering.

Chicago, July 6.—The Illinois delegation caucused this morning with the result that a solid vote will go to Bland.

It is now probable that the national committee will name W. J. Bryan for temporary chairman.

The populist national committee met at noon. They promise the support of the party to Teller if he is nominated by democrats.

Yesterday afternoon some thirty of the free-silver leaders including Gov. Stone, Senator Harris, Senator Jones,

W. J. BRYAN.

John W. Tomlinson and Senator Turpie, gathered at the Auditorium and practically decided that Senator Stephen M. White of California should be presented to the national committee as the choice of the silver men for the place that had been reserved for Senator Hill. The only objection to Mr. White is that he is a senator and Senator Harris is the slate candidate for permanent chairman, and some fear the white metalists are playing the senatorial game too high to be good politics. Later Mr. White declined the honor, and the talk then turned on Calvin S. Thomas of Colorado.

At 2 o'clock this morning it was reported that Senator Daniel of Virginia would be named by the silver men as temporary chairman.

Mr. Hill is spoken of as a "president-maker." The story went this way: John R. McLean and Mr. Hill are close political friends. Mr. McLean is also rich and Mr. Hill is said to have come with the richest delegation that has come to the convention. Richard P. Bland of Missouri is now in the lead as the free-silver candidate, and the other candidates have been casting around for a combination which will be able to defeat him.

The Boies men are particularly anxious to accomplish the defeat of Bland, because of the open fight his supporters have made on the Iowa man. Mr. McLean's friends claim that while he is not making any noise he is working like a beaver. With Mr. Hill marshalling the gold men and southerners, and the fierce fight on between the leading silver candidates, it is said that Mr. McLean will stand a splendid chance of being a compromise candidate.

There was also some presidential talk directed against Mr. Hill himself. Said one delegate who talked with Mr. Hill and who favored him as the nominee, even on a free silver platform:

"Senator Hill is still a possibility of that convention. If he is allowed to deliver his speech as temporary chairman I would be willing to wager any amount that he will be the nominee of the convention. He will probably make a diplomatic speech. He will talk for sound money, but he will not offend the silver men. He is by far the most popular man here. He is greater than Bland, Boies, Patterson, or any talked of man for the presidential nomination. It is said he is now working to make a combination against Bland which will really be in the interest of McLean, but it may be possible that the strength of this organization, which may control the convention, may be for Hill for president, with McLean in the second place."

Senator Hill's conference with Gov. Altgeld caused a great deal of talk. It was taken as very significant of Gov. Altgeld's power in the convention that Mr. Hill should go to the Illinois man. Mr. Hill refused to talk about the meeting. He even went so far to some as to deny that it even took place. Don M. Dickinson, however, was in full possession of the facts, and asserted that Mr. Hill and Mr. Altgeld did meet, but insisted that this did not indicate that Mr. Hill had retreated from his position on the money question in the least. He said that what took place between Mr. Hill and Mr. Altgeld belonged to them alone and did not interest the politician. Gov. Altgeld would neither affirm nor deny that he met Mr. Hill. One of the sensational reports that was given up in connection with the talk of Mr. Hill's visit to Altgeld was that he had told Senator Cockrell of Missouri that if the Michigan gold delegation was unseated he would favor leading the New York delegation out of the convention. Mr. Hill, however, denied this.

There are many who do not expect to vote for McLean, on notes. They say that the fight between the free silver candidates now in the field will result in the selection of a dark horse. Vice-President Stevenson is talked of in this connection as the man most likely to be selected as a compromise candidate. His supporters, and there will be not a few of them in the convention, say he would be the most acceptable man to the entire country that could be named in this convention with its free silver leaning. The silver men, however, want Mr. Stevenson to declare himself before they favor his nomination.

BLAND MEN GO PROSELYTING.

Adjourn a Caucus for that Purpose—Claim 244 Votes West of Mississippi.

Chicago, July 6.—Yesterday was a field day for the Bland boom, and if the claims of the Missouri candidate's managers are to be believed their favorite has increased his lead still further over the next strongest candidate.

The day was signalized by an important caucus at the Sherman House in the afternoon, resulting in the appointment of proselyting committees, which visited all the delegations not having candidates of their own and sought to win their support. A second conference of Bland delegates was held at 10 o'clock last night, but, as the canvassing committee had not completed their work, the session adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock, when it is hoped that a still more favorable showing will be made.

The Bland men are working hard to secure the indorsement of the silver states, and in token of their earnestness they have perfected an informal organization, of which Senator Martin of Kansas is acting as leader, with L. L. Dashiell of Texas as secretary, and every active Bland man in or out of the Missouri delegation as independent free lance and boomer.

At the adjourned conference of last night Secretary Dashiell made the assertion that the Bland managers have received assurances virtually amounting to promises of support from delegates of Western states.

In some cases, as in that of Utah, which has formerly decided to support Bland, the assurance is positive and has the unanimous indorsement of the state delegation. In others it is based upon the assertions of men in the various delegations who are in touch with their colleagues and claim to speak authoritatively. There is hardly a Bland man in town, however, who does not allege that the delegations named below, comprising almost every state west of the Mississippi, which was not instructed for some one else, will give its support to Bland on the first ballot: Arkansas, 16; Colorado, 8; Idaho, 3; Illinois, 48; Kansas, 20; Missouri, 34; Montana, 6; Oregon, 8; Texas, 30; Utah, 6; Washington, 8; Wyoming, 6; Arizona, 6; New Mexico, 6; Indian Territory, 6; Oklahoma Territory, 6. Total, 220.

Col. Nicholas Bell of St. Louis, who is one of the Bland fighters, believes that Nevada should be included in this estimate, and there were reports last night that the California delegation would receive instructions from Senator White to set his candidacy aside and vote for Bland. These figures, if correct, give pretty much the entire west to Bland, excepting, of course, the Dakotas, Iowa (which is working silently but strenuously for Boies), Nebraska and Oregon. If the eighteen votes of California and the six votes of Nevada are to be counted into the total, as most of the Bland men insist, the Missouri candidate would have 244 votes from the west alone. The friends of Boies will concede nothing, and the advocates of Senator Teller are equally non-committal. But aside from the showing claimed by Bland's followers in the west, they are relying upon several southern states. Inquiry at various headquarters of those southern delegations which have arrived disclosed that many of the delegates are uncertain in their own minds. The answer generally given in response to a question as to candidates is: "We are for the most available man—the man who can win." In the Alabama and Mississippi delegations, however, not a few delegates were willing to confess that Bland showed signs of "availability." The Tennessee men were in about the same frame of mind, and were claimed by the Bland supporters.

Conceding the friends of Missouri's candidate the extreme of their claim they have besides their 244 men from the west enough southern delegates from Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia and Maryland to bring the total up to 330 votes. This estimate is based, however, upon the theory that the unit rule is abolished, and, as one of the Bland men expressed it: "We will not need to abolish that rule, nor the two-thirds rule, either."

Cutting down the Bland estimate by deducting the 6 votes they claim in Virginia, the 8 they expect in Maryland and the votes of those western states which have only been heard from on hearsay, the Bland figures may come nearer to 275 than to 330. In the opinion of the leaders of opposing booms, the limit should be somewhere between 250 and 300.

Early yesterday the Utah delegation sent informal notice that it had held its caucus and agreed unanimously to support Bland. During the morning the Bland managers received assurances of reasonably certain support from Montana and other Pacific states, and at the close of the afternoon conference of Bland men held in the Sherman house at 2 o'clock the Bland managers were jubilant in the supposition that all the Pacific states, excepting possibly Colorado, were "coming their way."

The afternoon caucus itself was one of the important events of the day for the growing Bland boom. Senator Martin of Kansas was chairman and L. L. Dashiell of Texas was secretary. Speeches were made by Bailey of Texas, Obermeyer of Kansas and Hinrichsen of Illinois. Mr. Hinrichsen was present in proof of the friendly attitude of Illinois and he was heartily applauded.

when he said that he would give Bland the delegation from Illinois. A similar outburst followed when Delegate-at-Large Obermeyer of Kansas made his announcement concerning the attitude of Kansas.

The Colorado men who are in the field were disposed to be rather non-committal, although willing to admit that any free silver candidate standing on a free silver platform would be likely to carry the state by an enormous majority. Senator Teller's admirers are not talking loud, but they are working quietly and hoping for some sort of a combination which will put a stop to the Bland boom and give their candidate a chance to step forward as a compromise leader acceptable to all delegations.

HERE IS A NEW BOOM.

Pennsylvania Delegates to Present Name of Joseph C. Sibley.

Chicago, July 6.—The populists are determined in their statement that their convention will not indorse Bland, Boies or Matthews under any consideration if nominated by this convention. The silver party are equally as emphatic in the statements that if either of these gentlemen is nominated they will meet at St. Louis and nominate Henry M. Teller, trusting to throw the election into the house, and thus wield the balance of power.

As a result of this complicated situation a new presidential boom is about to be launched, and it is not at all improbable that the name of the dark horse who will be sprung upon the convention will come from the state of Pennsylvania. This morning's Eastern express brought to Chicago Hon. Joseph C. Sibley of Franklin, Pa. He comes to urge all the silver elements to unite upon Senator Teller, but yesterday there were several little conferences that have resulted in the launching a boom for Mr. Sibley himself, as the only man from the democratic party upon whom all elements of the silver advocates could unite.

In the advent of Sibley's selection it is not improbable that Hon. Joseph C. S. Blackburn of Kentucky would be the choice of the silver men for his running mate. The strength of such a ticket, they say, lies in the fact that both men come from east of the Mississippi River and from a territory that has not had a single silver mine in it, and it could not be said that their interest in silver was of a pecuniary nature. Kentucky will present the name of Joseph C. S. Blackburn for president, but so thoroughly in earnest is Mr. Blackburn that the silver cause should win that he would not for a moment stand in the way of either Teller or Sibley.

Another potent factor in the presidential situation is the populists and the silver party, as well as the silver republicans. The populists think that they can and, in all probability, will be able to indorse the nomination of Sibley. Senator Stewart of Nevada, who is considered as one of the leaders of Western populists, says that they could rally around Mr. Sibley better than any other man aside from Henry M. Teller. The silver party say that they are not at all averse to supporting the Pennsylvanian, as they know that his record is in accord with the principles so dear to them. The silver republicans, who are no small factor in the bimetallic element, could also, without straining their conscience, support the man who had the courage to stand up and oppose the Wilson tariff bill. They say that the West does not want a radical protective tariff and that they consider silver as the paramount issue, but that they do not want to sacrifice all ideas of tariff in this campaign.

The platform to be adopted by this convention will, if the talk of the leaders can be taken as an indication, be virtually a declaration upon the silver question upon which all could agree and an exceedingly conservative enunciation upon the tariff. This, they feel, would suit the South. It would also please the West and would not displease the democracy of the middle West, while it is exactly in line with the Pennsylvania democracy.

BOIES MEN DEFINE THEIR POSITION.

Hold a Caucus and Decide to Do Missionary Work Among Gold Men.

Chicago, July 6.—The Boies boom was rapt with sensational features yesterday. His stock fluctuated in the political market almost hourly. This was caused by the fact that his managers had declared they were not hopeful of success at the hands of the convention unless Boies received the support of the sound-money delegates. A conference was held in room 107 at the Palmer house. The result of the conference did not leak out until nearly midnight. The Boies men were not inclined to discuss the matter.

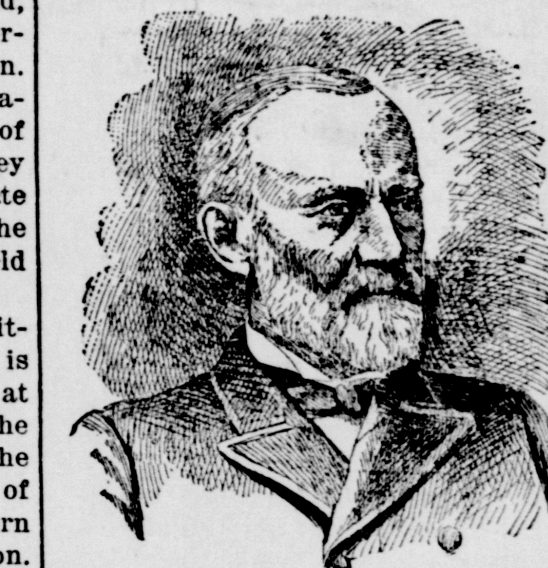

At midnight Delegate-at-Large Genung confirmed the report that Allen W. Thurman said that after the first ballot the Ohio delegation would vote for Boies. The first and formal ballot will be cast for John R. McLean according to the same report. A. J. Warner, president of the Bimetallic league, also said the Ohio delegation would go to Boies after the first ballot. There is said to be strong opposition in the Buckeye delegation to Bland. A little later, at Boies' headquarters, it was said nine of the Minnesota delegates had promised to support the Hawkeye candidate. Mr. Genung also claimed that Kentucky would go to Boies when Senator Blackburn's name was withdrawn.

In the evening the Boies men claimed to have received dispatches pledging support to the Iowa candidate from three delegations from whom no advice had heretofore been received. The leaders, however, refused to make public the names of the delegations. The Boies men also claim to have gained ground in many doubtful states and members of delegations, notably from the east, which arrived during the day visited Boies' headquarters at the Palmer house.

MICHIGAN DELEGATES ARRIVE.

Silver Majority Will Try to Unseat the Gold Minority.

Chicago, July 6.—The Michigan delegation arrived yesterday, with no attempt at any kind of a demonstration. Daniel J. Campau of Detroit, the Michigan member of the Democratic national committee, and a leading silver man, stated that at present there are about seventeen silver men to eleven gold

GEN. E. S. BRAGG.

In the Michigan delegation, and that an effort would be made to unseat the four delegates-at-large, and the delegates from the Fourth, Ninth, and Eleventh Districts, which are gold. There has been current a report that the Michigan gold men have been offering to support a free-silver candidate if allowed to retain their seats in the convention, and go on record against a silver platform. But the silver delegates, as a rule, are not in favor of allowing them to retain their seats at all, as they are afraid of treachery after the convention begins, and the caucus of the Michigan delegation promises to be one of the most exciting of the convention.

Indiana Not All for Silver.

Chicago, July 6.—George G. Tanner, collector of customs in Indianapolis, said that last Wednesday there was a meeting of sound money democrats at Indianapolis, and a committee sent to Chicago to secure apartments. They decided that they would be present at the convention, because they do not believe the delegation represents the sentiments of the democrats of Indiana as a whole. Naturally they are for Matthews, and would support him on a gold platform, because he is a citizen of their state, but they feel that they cannot give him their support on a free silver platform.

The Indiana sound money headquarters were visited by a great many people. Mr. S. O. Pickens, chairman of the organization, stated that they had received scores of telegrams from democratic manufacturers from throughout the state of Indiana urging them to stand by sound money and to do their utmost against a declaration in favor of free silver.

Colorado for Bland.

Chicago, July 6.—Colorado will vote in the national convention for the nomination of Richard P. Bland. While no caucus has been held to decide that question yet this statement is made upon the authority of a Colorado democrat who has canvassed the delegation. It does not necessarily mean that the Colorado delegation would not support Henry M. Teller, but it is not the plan as near as can be ascertained to place Henry M. Teller in nomination before the convention as will the names of Bland and Boies be presented. Teller will get some votes on the first ballot, although his name will not be formally presented. But in case the south and middle west break for Teller Colorado will take pleasure in supporting him.

Illinois Delegates Caucus.

Chicago, July 6.—Illinois delegates spent most of Sunday squabbling over the presidential question. The delegation met twice—once in the morning and again in the evening. Last night it was conceded that Bland had the Illinois delegation. Half a dozen Cook county men insisted that they would yet get the delegation for another man than Bland, but the delegates outside of Cook county gave the following estimate of the preferences of the delegates: Bland, 31; Boies, 10; Stevenson, 5; Craig, 1; Teller, 1.

BRUTAL MURDER OF A WOMAN.

Her Husband and Son Arrested on Suspicion.

Kenosha, Wis., July 6.—Mrs. Hilgendorf, wife of August Hilgendorf, a farmer in Pleasant Prairie, three miles west of Kenosha, was brutally murdered Saturday. August Hilgendorf and Bernhard Hilgendorf, husband and son of the dead woman, are in the county jail to await the preliminary examination. The body was found in the milkhouse, a small building about fifteen yards from the dwelling. Blood was scattered over the room and the skull of the woman was crushed and her throat cut. The upper part of her body stripped of clothing and the arms were covered with bruises. On every side marks of a dreadful struggle was visible. In a corner was a corn knife covered with blood. August Hilgendorf, in answering the questions of the coroner, tried to convey the impression that the woman had committed suicide, but his explanation was unsatisfactory and he was arrested.

ENTOMBED MINERS ARE ALIVE.

Rescuers at Pittston Communicate with Them by Rapping.

Pittston, Pa., July 6.—There are indications that at least a few of the entombed sixty miners are alive. The 11 o'clock shift Sunday morning reported hearing rappings, and every man came up feeling absolutely convinced that some of the victims of the disaster are alive. They not only heard rappings, but answered them. One of the men, hearing a rap, raised his pick and sent back the tap. Then all listened intently. Back came the answer, clear and distinct. Again they tapped and again came the answer, and so they kept it up from 10:15 to 11 o'clock, when the other shift went on.

Serious Cloudburst in Indiana.

Jeffersonville, Ind., July 6.—A terrific cloudburst visited this vicinity Saturday night. Bridges, pikes, and houses in the hill country along the Monon were swept away. Between Pekin and Wilsons, for fifteen miles, all crops are gone. At Borden the homes of F. L. Priest, Mrs. William Little, William Dudley, Richard Morton, Ed D. Porter's store, the Methodist parsonage, Fisher's sawmill, and other buildings were swept away, George Martin's and Wm. McKinley's box factories were ruined. The cloudburst extended from Pekin to Louisville, twenty-two miles.

Cretans Will Not Surrender.

Athens, July 6.—A meeting of Cretan deputies and chiefs was held Sunday for the nomination of members of the revolutionary government in a village of the province of Apokorona. The members of the new provisional government, amid the greatest excitement, took oath not to cease the struggle until they had obtained either complete autonomy or annexation by Greece.

Angry at Uncle Sam.

Madrid, July 6.—In the Spanish senate Saturday Generals Calleja and Pando were very bitter in their expressions against the United States. The former gentleman declared that the conduct of the United States in protecting the Cuban rebels was most treacherous.

May Turn Down Sheerin.

Chicago, July 6.—The Indiana delegation held a caucus this morning at the Palmer House and select a national committeeman. It was stated last night that S. P. Sheerin, who is the present committeeman, would be turned down and Leon O. Bailey would be selected in his stead.

To Meet at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, July 6.—The Baptist Young People's union will meet next week in the exposition building. It is believed that 15,000 people will attend the convention and the arrangements have been made on that scale. The arrangements have been directly in charge of the local union, which numbers 1,200 members.

Times Have Changed.

A Maine paper notes as evidence of the change that has come over methods and men that whereas in old times the paymaster on the Kennebec ice fields never used anything but cash and brotherly love in making payments, he now keeps a loaded revolver on his pay table as a precaution against the possibility of bold thieves trying to snatch his pile of greenbacks.

NEGROES STIRRED BY THE LYNCHING

SERIOUS TROUBLE FEARED IN MARYLAND.

The Hanging of Randolph at Rockville, May Cause an Outbreak—White Men Armed and Prepared for the Struggle, Should It Come—Euxton Is in Great Danger.

Rockville, Md., July 6.—The excitement caused by the lynching of the negro, Sydney Randolph, Friday, which had almost entirely died out, was stirred to a high pitch last night, when it became rumored that the colored people in the vicinity of Gaithersburg had organized a party and were coming to Rockville to lynch R. L. Buxton, the father of the Buxton family, that was assaulted, and of which crime Randolph was accused, and for which he was lynched. As soon as the authorities here were apprised of this rumor steps were at once taken to prevent a recurrence of the events of Friday night. The deputy sheriff quickly informed a number of the citizens that their services might be needed, and then told Buxton of his danger, advising him to leave on the next train for Washington. Buxton protested against going to Washington. Arrivals from Gaithersburg stated that the rumor of the intended outbreak among the negroes had reached them, and that a party of 200 men had been armed and put on guard. They informed Buxton that if he would accompany them back to Gaithersburg they would guarantee to protect him. Buxton went to Gaithersburg. There is no doubt that the negroes of the county are indignant at the lynching of Randolph, and are open in their denunciation of the act. It is stated also that they are bitter against Buxton, claiming that he knows more about the affair than he is willing to tell.

IOWA REPUBLICANS CONVENE.

Interesting Contest On for State Office Nominations.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 6.—The republican state convention which will be held in this city Wednesday, July 15, has awakened such an interest from the rivalry growing out of the large number of candidates that it promises to excel any convention held in years. The state officers to be elected are secretary of state, treasurer of state, auditor of state, attorney general, and railroad commissioner. In addition, there are two electors-at-large. The contests are over the secretary of state, railroad commissioner and supreme judge. For the latter office thirteen candidates have been announced. An invitation has been to William McKinley to be present. The state central committee has the matter in charge, but as yet nothing definite has been received from McKinley.

Major E. H. Conger, who received the unanimous support of the Polk county convention, is the only gentleman who has yet been mentioned for delegate-at-large.

Priest Displeases Cleveland Strikers.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 6.—Fully ten thousand union men were in line Sunday at the funeral of William Rettger, the striker who was shot to death Thursday by a non-union workman employed by the Brown Hoisting and Conveying Machine company. The funeral cortege was the largest in the history of the city except that of President Garfield. Monsignore Thorpe of the Immaculate Conception church preached the sermon, in which he cautioned the strikers who are struggling with the company against doing any violence. The priest also admonished the strikers to remember that capital has rights and to be careful not to interfere with the liberty of non-union men who took their places. He urgently appealed to the men to turn a deaf ear to anarchists and communists who had come from the slums of the streets of Europe, where men are not men. Union men from Toledo, Akron, and Canton were in line. Several hundred of the striking Polish quarrymen at Berea were also in attendance at the funeral. A large number of special police have been sworn in in anticipation of trouble at the works today. The militia are still awaiting orders.

Alliance a Defensive One.

Rome, July 6.—Premier Crispi has telegraphed to the Reforma from Naples an explanation of the triple alliance between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy. He says that the alliance is a defensive and not an aggressive one and that the three powers which are parties to it mutually guarantee the maintenance of the territorial status quo. The triple alliance, ex-Premier Crispi says, was renewed for twelve years in 1889.

Will Start a Bryan Boom.

Lincoln, Neb., July 6.—The Nebraska free silver delegation, headed by ex-Congressman Bryan, and accompanied by a large crowd of free silver shouters, left Sunday morning over the Northwestern. The delegates are confident of securing seats in the convention as opposed to the contesting sound money faction. On their arrival at Chicago the more enthusiastic Bryan supporters will begin an active canvass in behalf of that gentleman as a presidential possibility.

THE TRUTHS TOLD IN LOCAL PULPITS

RESUME OF SERMONS BY JANESVILLE PASTORS.

The Word That Was Disseminated
Among the People on the Sunday
Following the Fourth—Address By Evangelist Rose At the Congregational Church.

At the Presbyterian church the text for the morning topic, "Contributions from Current Politics to Moral and Religious Truth" was Luke 20:13. "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's and unto God the things which be God's," Mr. Pence said:

The atmosphere is full of political affairs, affairs of government. Whatever drives us to a moral conviction, has in its driving bettered us, no matter if its original source was not entirely spiritual. The present topics in politics may suggest similar moral and spiritual topics and be more valuable from the lessons which we can draw from them than would politics themselves.

Politicians are declaring that a double standard of values is disastrous to all financial policies, and argue that a worth cannot be measured by two standards of different values. In society, this double standard of morals, one for the male delinquent, and another entirely different for the female offender, has a greater effect on the moral condition of our country than can be computed. And women themselves, are in a great measure responsible for this condition of the race. It would be better infinitely to measure the sin of both sexes by the same standard.

One desire, at present in the monetary world, is for a money of the same value in different parts of the world; if a man were to go from New York to London, much trouble and vesation would be avoided if the New York money was readily accepted in London at its New York value. It is the same in the spiritual or moral world. Men will make an effort for a money that is good now and promises to be good in the future. Why not make an effort for spiritual good?
"Godliness is profitable unto all things having promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come." "Be rich in good works." Use time, talents, enthusiasm, and love for God, and in Jesus' wealth the Christian had inestimable resources. We value money for what it will purchase, or, in other words, what it will redeem—pleasure, power or satisfaction. "Ye are not redeemed with corruptible things, but with the precious blood of Christ." Every deed done in the love of God is a demand on the heavenly future. Jesus stands for that which reduces human life—it must be worth living.

If our minds were used with half as much enthusiasm in studying the Bible as in trying to solve political problems, there would be fewer political problems to solve.

The evening subject was: Inspired Patriotism: A Message from the Ancients to the American Citizen. Text: Numbers 32:18: "We will not return unto our houses, until the children of Israel have inherited every man his inheritance." This text was a statement made by the children of Gad and Reuben, when they were come to the promised land of Canaan. This was inspired patriotism. Patriotism is one of the highest qualities of character.
Nations serve great purposes in history. The Assyrian, Persian, Greek and Roman nations have appeared, served their purpose and passed away.
Each served out a purpose
and the world is advanced.
The Israelites of the text recognized the solidarity of a nation. A nation is compacted like the human body; suffering in one part affects the whole, as does joy and health. The sons of Reuben and Gad had selected their portion of the country, which was not so open to opposition from the heathen of the new country. But they knew that the idolaters would have power to injure and destroy the other parts of their nation, and therefore the Reu-benites must assist in subduing the enemy. If not, their nation would suffer, and they also. No immorality can exist in one part of the country without its effects being felt in the whole. Patriotism of the highest stamp is necessary in our American nation. Let this patriotism appear in our philanthropy. Support the home missions and Sabbath school union for they influence the country distant probably from our homes, and the condition of that country spiritually, affects us all. Let not those in sheltered homes become deadened to the fact that many, many are on the highway to destruction, that may be saved if the means were possible.

How to Americanize the emigrants that flock to our shores seems a problem that can be solved thus—Christian-ize them. To the Christian voter, the ballot is a Christian and Godly obligation, not to be neglected. Vote for those that may be trusted. Many Christians are not voters, but public sentiment is a power, and the women have a strong influence in forming this power. God intended a nation to carry out a purpose, and it seems from history that he must have had a great purpose, moral and spiritual for this American nation.
The founders of our land, its location and resources, and the fact that so many classes of people needing spiritual uplifting are at our very doors—these are strong indications that God's purpose for our country is that we further this kingdom.

AT THE FIRST M. F. CHURCH.

Rev. R. K. Manston and Rev. F. A. Pease
French Eloquent Sermons.

There was preaching in the morning by the pastor, Rev. R. K. Manston, at the First M. F. church. He took as his text, Isaiah 61, 1 to 5. He said man was a thinking being; he would never go back into his former state, but ever advance. He compared a man dead to spiritual life, and one alive spiritually, and urged a greater activity in the struggle for right.

In the evening Presiding Elder Pease preached from the text, Matt. 25-4.
The disciples called Christ a king, although they mistook his kingdom. It would be well for us to consider Christ's words as the words of a king.
If we compare Christ with all the kings of the earth none equal him in glory, not even Solomon. There are many creeds in the world. Some are good, and some might be rolled up in a napkin and returned in the judgment day as the talent in the parable. The young man came to Jesus and said he had kept the commandments from his youth up, Jesus called him to a higher work, he calls us to a higher living also.
We may help others up, comfort others and ever find some little work to do. Many bow and scrape to those in high social standing, or to those who have much in this world's goods;
but one who is endeavoring to live right, receives no recognition. He illustrated this by Burns' "A man's man for a' that." We cannot be right with God until the heart is right with him. The question that comes to all at some time is "What Think ye of Christ?" He that honoreth not the son honoreth not the father. If we would hear the "well done" we must love man. We must love God for what he is God, Jehovah, for what he has done, his protecting hand and for his immeasurable provisions for the hereafter.

The Epworth League meeting was led by W. J. Cannon, the subject for the hour being "Personal Worth."
The official board will meet in the church parlor Monday evening at 7:30.
All members are requested to be present.
The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will have an ice cream social at the home of Mrs. Williams, on North Jackson street. Music will be fur-

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Evangelist Rose Speaks and the Cheney
Quartette Sing.

"Lord, to whom shall we go?"
Evangelist Rose asked the question at the Congregational church yesterday. The clause following this question—"Thou hast the words of eternal life"—indicate, he said, that to find eternal life was uppermost in this disciple's heart. For him it was the great problem. This same problem presents itself to you and to me today.
To whom shall we go to find the words of eternal life?

Shall we go to friends who have no concern about such a question?
This would not be reasonable.

Shall we drown this question by travel? God speaks in foreign lands as well as at home. The beauties of nature and architecture are his messengers.

Shall we drown the question by reading and study? But all reading and study is worthless except as it reveals the principles of love and righteousness and peace and justice, the same principles which Jesus came to teach.

Shall we trust even father or mother for the answer to the question? They are not always right.
Where then shall we go? Only from Jesus Christ can we find the true answer. He will reveal to us the truth. With earnest aching hearts let us listen for the Master's answer.

The Cheney quartette sang at the morning service, and gave a social concert in the evening.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Hodge Preaches for the First Time Since His Illness.

Dr. Hodge occupied his pulpit at the Baptist church yesterday morning for the first time since his recent illness.
"Ye are bought with a price," Cor.
6:20 was the text of his morning sermon. He said God wanted men or he would not have paid such a price as that on Calvary. Christ finds men in the cruel bondage of sin and buys them to set them free. Our government would resent an invasion of Alaska as quickly as an attack upon the capital at Washington; so God will protect all whom he has bought. If we are bought by Christ we belong to him and no other.

"What we Owe Our Country" was the patriotic topic of the Endeavor meeting led by Mr. Curler. The music committee is doing good work with the short song service before the prayer meeting.

The quarterly report of the Sunday School secretary showed an average attendance of 220 at Sunday School during the past three months.
Thursday evening the duty of Christians in regard to the temperance question will be the topic of the prayer meeting.

The Woman's Missionary meeting will be held in the church parlors
Friday at 3 p. m.

THE OVERFLOW OF LOCAL NEWS.

SCHOOL BOARD IN SESSION.

Rules Regarding the Hiring of Teachers Is Repealed—Other Business.

The school board met Friday night, and transacted a large amount of business. In the course of the meeting, Commissioner Cunningham introduced the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the board does not favor the employment of normal school graduates as teachers in preference to other qualified teachers.

RESOLVED, That this board favors the employment of good teachers, regardless of where they have received their training or qualification, and will give no preference to normal school graduates over any other applicants.

RESOLVED, That a preference should be given to Janesville teachers, other things being equal.

The resolution occasioned some discussion, and after the words "and will give no preference to normal school graduates over any other applicants" were stricken out, the resolution was passed unanimously.

Com. Cunningham introduced the following resolution:

WHEREAS, In October, 1894, the Merchants' and Mechanics' Savings bank offered to pay two per cent. interest on the high school fund, and

WHEREAS, Pursuant to a request made by the common council, the city treasurer to accept said offer, said city treasurer did on October 10, 1894, deposit said high school fund in said bank, amounting to $49,765, and

WHEREAS, The interest now due amounts to $609.06, and

WHEREAS, None of said interest has ever been collected,

RESOLVED, That the school board of the city of Janesville do respectfully ask and request the city treasurer to collect the said interest and place it to the credit of the school fund.

RESOLVED, Further that Commissioners Burpee and Weisend be appointed a special committee to present this resolution and investigate the matter, and that they be requested to report to the board what they are able to do or what in their opinion can be done to secure said interest for the school fund.

The resolution was adopted.

Commissioner Burpee introduced the following resolution, which was adopted:

RESOLVED, That the rules and by-laws adopted by the board of education at their meeting on the 11th day of June, 1896, be, and the same are hereby repealed.

RESOLVED, That the rules and regulations of the board of education be, and the same are hereby amended by repealing rule 10 of the old rules, which reads as follows:

It shall be the duty of the superintendent to report to the board at the close of the fall and winter terms what teachers, if any, then in the school should, in his opinion, be no longer retained.

RESOLVED, That the by-laws of the board of education be, and the same are hereby repealed.

The committee of teachers shall, at the regular meeting in June, report to the board the names of teachers for the ensuing year. This committee shall also recommend teachers to fill any and all vacancies that may occur in the corps of teachers.

Clerk Cunningham stated that the resignations of Miss Emma Comstock, who was re-elected to the position of primary teacher in the Jefferson school; Miss Carolyn Kimball of the High school corps, and Miss Gertrude Zeisinger had been received.

Clerk Cunningham stated that an application from Miss Eva H. Bostwick, a recent graduate of the Wisconsin University, for Miss Kimball's position had been received.

Some other business was also considered, and after leaving the recommendation of a teacher to succeed Miss Kimball, in the hands of the committee on teachers, the board adjourned.

Forty Years

OF SUFFERING FROM PILES.

Remarkable Cure of Popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio.

People who suffer from that annoying and obstinate disease will be gratified to learn that science has discovered a safe, convenient and simple cure for every form of piles, as the experience of the popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio, amply attests. The Major says: I would like to add my name to the thousands who have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure. I know from experience that it is the only remedy on earth that will effectually cure piles; and as for a lasting cure I had tried all the lives, lotions, etc., without success. Six boxes of the Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed all traces of a case of piles of forty years standing.

You may rest assured that the Pyramid Pile Cure has no stauncher advocate than myself.

I feel that it is my duty to allow you to see my name in any way you may see fit, in order that other sufferers may thus be directed to what I feel certain will be a speedy relief and cure.

The Pyramid Pile Cure gives instant relief and a permanent cure in all kinds of piles, absolutely free from opium, cocaine or any similar poisons, so common in pills.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00.

A book on cause and cure of Piles will be sent free by address to the Pyramid Pile Cure Co., Boston, Mich.

REGARDING THE MACHINE CO.

A Director Speaks of the Causes of the Shut Down.

The following communication has been handed The Gazette and is self-explanatory. The article in the Times-Herald, which it quotes, said that the "plant would not start up, in all probability until a McKinley tariff was adopted."

EDITOR GAZETTE:—This morning the writer was shown a letter of inquiry addressed to a firm of local attorneys stating that it was the report that the Janesville Machine Company had closed indefinitely and asking a report upon the credit and standing of that company.

This is the result of an article which appeared in The Gazette a few days ago, which has since been followed up by some statements in a political speech at the McKinley ratification meeting and in a dispatch to the Chicago Times-Herald to the effect that the Janesville Machine Company had been closed by the Democratic party.

It is perhaps well that the truth should be known.

The Janesville Machine Company, desiring to take an inventory and to make some necessary repairs and improvements, has seen fit to close its shops for a short time, for the reason that it can take this inventory and make these repairs to better advantage with the plant idle than as it was in operation.

The company has done a good business this year and everything points to a profitable business for the future. In fact arrangements are under way which will largely increase the output of the company.

No attention will be paid to sensational articles, nor to still more sensational speeches were it not for the fact that the people of Janesville are interested in knowing the truth concerning our industries and the writer has had abundant personal proof that the article and speeches referred to have caused a great deal of comment and considerable uneasiness among our home people.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am something of a fighter myself in political matters, and I am willing to take hard knocks personally and take my chances of getting back at the other fellow, and all without any personal feeling; but it seems to me it is going too far for our local papers and speakers to indulge in language which is calculated to injure the great industries of Janesville for the sake of possible party advantage. Very truly yours,

DIRECTOR JANESVILLE MACHINE CO.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1802—General Daniel Morgan, American Revolutionary hero, died at Winchester, Va. Morgan was a gallant border soldier in the numerous Indian wars of the colony of Virginia. His first service in the Revolution was in Arnold's march to Quebec, where he led a band of picked riflemen, hardy Virginia mountaineers. In the great assault when Montgomery fell and Arnold was disabled, Morgan fought his way into the town. His command was always made up of the same elements as his original company and at Saratoga and Cowpens played a brilliant part.
1836—John Marshall, noted chief justice of the United States, died in Philadelphia; born 1755.
1886—Paul H. Hayne, southern poet, died near Augusta, Ga.; born 1830.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

B. M. LaFollette's candidacy may be in earnest or it may be a feint but it will bring Sawyer's friends to the front with knives drawn. The forcing of such an issue is unfortunate. Sawyer has gained tolerance with age. Nobody ever accused him of lacking courage, but neither can they say he ever sacrificed party interests in personal quarrels. Wisconsin republicans might do much worse than to take Philatus Sawyer for a model.

As for the La Follette candidacy, the prevalent idea is that it masks the advance of a dark horse. It is declared that La Follette will be able to throw every vote he has for some one else, and will do so. In a Chicago paper interview, however, friends of the Madison man deny the story that he is plying any other man in the race. They say he is in the fight to win, and it will be a fight to a finish between him and Mr. Sawyer.

The report comes from Milwaukee that Governor Upham, whose nomination was brought about, in part, by Major Schofield's graceful withdrawal two years ago, will reciprocate by doing his utmost for Schofield this year. Every effort will be made, however, to conduct a campaign that will leave no sore spots. There is fighting enough to be done against the common foe without using tomahawks inside the party breastworks.

A LESSON FOR REPUBLICANISM.

A manly acknowledgment is made by the Appleton Post in these words: "It is not too much to say that Governor Upham has given all of his critics—this paper especially included—a wholesome lesson in republicanism—in a partisanship so free from alloy as to rise to the level of patriotism, and it is to be hoped that each will profit by it. * * The man whom so many of us have unsparingly criticised has shown himself to be the very incarnation of that principle. Even at the height of republicanism, when any nominee, though unworthy, would be certain to be swept into office this man deliberately throttles his political ambition, so dear to most men, because, in the judgment of his contemporaries its attempted gratification might work an injury to his party. And not only that, but he so far forgets himself, in one connection, as to associate such sacrifice with an indefinite personality. That is, he says that "the party welfare is of greater moment to me than the interests of any one man." We must bear in mind that the governor alone is that man, and thus his attitude is unique. This is certainly the very acme of party loyalty, and by way of the party, of the state. Hence, we repeat its censors and others may, if they will, imbibes a valuable lesson from the governor's example."

Congressman Cowen of Maryland, who is a democrat, said: "The adoption of a silver platform at Chicago means that the city of Baltimore will give an overwhelming majority for the republican ticket and that the electoral vote of Maryland will be cast for McKinley."

A comparison of the Richmond papers of the present with those printed from '61 to '65, will convince any unprejudiced person that Jeff Davis is more popular dead than he was when alive.

Mr. Cleveland might ask President Diaz, of Mexico, how he manages to get everything he does endorsed, and to be regularly reelected; but the Diaz plan would hardly do over here.

The world will see what making money by decree means as soon as the Spanish bank at Havana begins to issue the $12,000,000 in paper money authorized by Spain.

The czar lost flesh steadily during the coronation fetes, he also lost several thousand subjects. But he has the consolation of having met Richard Harding Davis.

The London Times says that free trade isn't practical for Canada. Some democrats over here have reached the same conclusion concerning the United States.

Kansas would honor herself and show that she now admires brains more than whiskers by sending Ingalls back to the senate instead of Peffer.

Mr. Whitney might make a deal with those Chicago highwaymen who are successfully defying the police, to hold up a few of the silver delegates.

Thirty-two years of unequalled prosperity under republican rule, is after all the strongest argument for the return of the republican party to power.

In view of the news from Chicago, it seems pertinent to ask, how many democratic conventions are to be held there?

The populists are disposed to snicker every time they think of Cleveland and the Chicago convention.

Never Descends to Details.

"No," said Mrs. Trett, "I always do my own shopping, and always buy the supplies for the kitchen. I can't trust my husband to do anything of the sort. He hasn't a bit of judgment. A dry goods clerk or a grocer can poke any kind of stuff off on him at twice its value."

"That's the way with some men," responded the caller. "By the way, what is your husband's profession?"

"He runs a business college downtown."—Chicago Tribune.

Enforced Repose.

"Angels all have wings, haven't they, mamma?" asked Bobbie.

"Yes, dear."

"And they fly with 'em every day, don't they, mamma?"

"Why, yes, I suppose so."

"Hm," said Bobbie, after a thoughtful pause; "I guess they lay off during moulting time!"—Brooklyn Life.

Taken Literally.

"This woman's paper," he said, looking up from it, "says that a woman should never, under any circumstances, wear a street gown in the house."

"What of it?" she asked.

"Oh, nothing," he replied, "except that I should think it would be awkward for a woman to change her gown on the front steps."—Chicago Post

He Meant It.

"Look here," said the cynical friend, "you don't mean to tell me that you really meant what you said in your speech to-night when you said it afforded you genuine delight to take off your hat to a workingman?"

"I meant every word of it," answered the orator. "I was thinking of my barber at the time."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Uncle Allen's View of It.

"From the reports of the experts," observed Uncle Allen Sparks, "it seems that the small-bore rifles are much more effective in warfare than those of larger caliber. It's a good deal the same way in politics. The small-bore politician does ten times more damage to the common man than the big gun does."—Chicago Tribune.

Charge to Keep.

"I can't stand this tailor of mine much longer," declared young Sypher; "he charges so."

The morose man uttered an audible snarl.

"What difference does it make," he growled, "so long as he charges it?"

Objections Removed.

Jake—So your father has consented to our union? I thought he wouldn't allow you to marry a lawyer.

BECKMAN IS GUILTY THE JURYMEN SAY

TWELVE CHICAGO MEN CONVICT HIM OF MANSLAUGHTER

Charged With Killing His Wife Who Used to Reside at Evansville—Relatives Secure an Indictment After Coroner's Jury Refused to Hold the Accused.

The killing of a Rock county woman at Chicago will be legally avenged.

Hugo Beckman must pay the penalty.

The case is well remembered. Beckman, a young baker, was arrested November 22 last, for the alleged murder of his wife, Marguerite Beckman, at No. 2007 State street. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from heart disease. The woman's friends at Evansville, where she used to live, however were not satisfied, and procured the indictment of Beckman.

The trial was held in Judge Stein's court and ended by the jury returning a verdict of manslaughter, after deliberating less than an hour.

The man has been on trial for a week. After the verdict Beckman's attorney made a motion for a new trial and arguments upon it will be heard on Tuesday.

During the morning Beckman testified in his own behalf. He admitted he had struck the woman on three occasions long before the date of her death. He said he awoke the morning his wife died to find her dead in bed beside him. He denied knowing her or being in any way responsible for her death.

Evansville people were much interested in the case as Mrs. Beckman was a highly respected citizen of that village.

A Gentlemanly Profession.

A city man was lately asked to recommend a nice, gentlemanly profession in which a quick fortune could be made without risk. He replied that he knew of only two such professions, and they were both rather hard to get into. They were the professions of Kafir millionaire and American railroad reorganizer. The Kafir millionaire is not entirely unknown to our readers, but perhaps they are not so well acquainted with the railroad reorganizer. His native habitat is New York, and he is only to be seen in London as a bird of passage. He may honor us with his company for a few days when on his way to the Riviera or the upper Nile, but he would be making himself too cheap if he were to recognize such a thing as business when he "had only run over for a short holiday."

His work here is done vicariously through sympathetic agents or public spirited committees. He has also committees in New York, and nowadays he finds it necessary to have syndicates and underwriters as well.

A playful professional fiction assumes that these committees have been elected by the reorganized bond and stock holders to protect their interests. Another pleasant illusion gives the syndicates and the underwriters credit for stepping into the deadly breach to save the reorganization scheme from imminent peril. And they have to be paid accordingly, or, in professional phraseology, "compensated."—Saturday Review.

Social Conditions.

To develop man we must have more than the bare necessities of life. Our race is dying out at the top and being renewed from the bottom. The liquor drinking classes barely live, yet the race goes on while the wealthier society dwindles down, leaving but few heirs.

MISSKIRK LEAVES FOR THE CAPITAL

CONGRATULATIONS SHOWERED UPON HER.

Two Candidates Who Were Next to Her in the Contest, Receive Return Tickets to the Convention As Consolation Prizes—Christian Endeavor Notes.

Congratulations were showered thick upon Miss Grace Kirk as she stood at the C. & N. W. depot this noon. At 12:30 she left for Washington to enjoy the trip her friends won for her through the Gazette contest.

Her railroad tickets and a $50 check were placed in her hands this morning, and she was left free to make her own plans and choose her own stopping place.

It was arranged that Miss Kirk should send back to readers of The Gazette such convention notes as promise to interest Janesville people.

The Gazette placed in the hands of Miss Luella Davey and Robert Knoff this morning railroad tickets to Washington and return good for two months. So energetically were these candidates supported by their friends that it was thought no more than fair that a consolation prize be offered and the tickets were suggested as the most suitable. The recipients were surprised completely and there were many expressions of appreciation.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood.
A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce's, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the "World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel," at Buffalo, N. Y. LOVE'S REALITY.

Not laughs at love and calls it foolish knows
Not life's real value in great things or small.
The everyday delight, the silence of woes,
Of poverty, a gift so great to those
Of wealth that other treasures, poor and small,
Seem by the glory of its holy flame
That flashes up to heaven, white and tall,
To kiss the stars, and to the earth below
Not 'fore the fall, but after, just to shame
Life's littleness with something high and wild
And strong, and beautiful and void of blame,
This gift divine to man—his all in all.

A TIGER OF THE LAW.

Never had Chi Hung Lang sat down to his cup of tea in a more sorrowful frame of mind. A something wrapped in yellow silk lay before him, which he did fair to give the brave mandarin a headache. It was an official letter.

A weighty matter it was for Chi Hung Lang—to be or not to be, in fact. In case he succeeded in doing what was asked of him he would receive the second peacock feather and the red button for his cap, but if he failed the soles of his feet would certainly become intimately acquainted with the bamboo. And there were such beautiful, strong, elastic bamboos in the town hall for such purposes. He had tried every stick with his own hands on one of his interiors in office.

For Chi Hung Lang was the highest judge of the province and bore the title of honor, "tiger of the lawbook."

In criminal circles and among those earned in the law his name was greatly respected. He understood the law so well and could expound it so minutely that he once succeeded by a brilliant plea in having a 2-hour-old infant sentenced to 18 years' imprisonment.

There was no one in all the land with a clear conscience, at least no one who felt secure, for Chi Hung Lang had once declared that in his opinion every respectable citizen ought to sit on the criminal's bench at least once during his lifetime, and he was just the man to put his theory into practice.

It cannot be denied that Chi Hung Lang, with his method of administering justice, accomplished great results. If any one had the least reason to fear the law, he moved into another province. This solved the tramp question at least.

If the tiger of the lawbook had not occasionally instituted a practice law-suit, the judges of the land would have had nothing to do but smoke their opium in undisturbed leisure.

At this time the prison of the province of Yen-si-ling, over which Chi Hung Lang ruled, had been without an inmate for eight days. It was absolutely impossible to find a wrongdoer. The beautiful prison, with its 832 cells, electric lights, flogging machines and torture chamber equipped with all the modern improvements, was empty—empty as a Chinese lieutenant's purse on the 29th of the month.

This is the reason that Chi Hung Lang's heart quaked and his feet tingled with misgivings.

Five years before this the above mentioned model prison had been built by the son of heaven at an enormous cost, and it had been made so large at the express wish of Chi Hung Lang. The viceroy now announced that he would inspect the prison in three days and hoped to find it comfortably well filled.

The writing ended with the ominous figures "25." Oh, how poor Chi Hung Lang's feet burned! It was just like the Mikado. But where was he to get 832 Nanki Poohs without stealing them? It was hardly to be expected that any one would volunteer. But the viceroy wanted to see the flogging machine and the hydraulic gallows in actual operation during his inspection. Here the terrible number 25 appeared again. Oh, how the feet of the tiger of the lawbook burned! There was no escape. An unlucky act he would not have committed, and at any rate there was no time to manufacture several hundred counts and try the cases in the usual way. Oh, if only he had more time!

Chi Hung Lang rubbed his head doubtfully. He had a very long head, and Chi Hung Lang, tiger of the lawbook.

At this moment his pupil and favorite practitioner, Ka-cha-lo, entered the room with a newspaper in his hand and a terror in his face.

"Read, master," he said.

It was a copy of a comic paper, The Dragon Claw, which contained a malicious item ridiculing the large feet of Chi Hung Lang's wife.

Ka-cha-lo had expected his master to fly into a passion and at least breathe out fire and smoke or some exhibition of the kind.

Nothing of the sort took place. The mighty man of law danced around the room in his glee until his cue upset all the candles, crying: "I am saved! I shall fly my prison! I shall get my 832 prisoners!" Ka-cha-lo said in astonishment, "Only one, I think—the responsible editor of The Dragon Claw."

"Young man," replied Chi Hung Lang, "what do you know about law? How about his accomplices?"

"But do you think he has 832 of them?" ventured Ka-cha-lo.

"He has as many as I need," was the wise answer.

Ka-cha-lo, more astonished than ever, left the room, saying, "What a man!"

Two days afterward proceedings were begun.

Eight hundred and thirty-two persons had been accused of being parties to the offense or of spreading abroad the contents of the libelous sheet. As a matter of course the editor was first indicted, then the assistant editors, the publishers, the owners of the printing office, the printers, the folio, the compositors and the proofreaders. Janitors; also his wife, who had been in his breakfast and so refused to take his doing. The porters, who had not escaped, for he had bundles of papers without a protest?

women who carried the papers overlooked, nor the postal authorities who forwarded them by mail, nor the railway officials down to the engineer, for they all had assisted in bringing it before the public.

This, however, made only 180 accused persons, and more were needed. But Chi Hung Lang, with long, long head, was a man of resources. He then indicted the cheese and sausage merchants who had wrapped their wares in this number of the paper, the manufacturer of the paper on which the edition was printed and all his establishment, including his traveling salesmen, the man who delivered the ink; also his mother-in-law, for it was plain that these all had had a hand in the affair.

Next on the list were the waiters at the restaurants who had handed this copy of The Dragon Claw to the guests, a street car conductor in whose car a passenger had read the paper, an optician who had sold eyeglasses to a near-sighted man and so helped him to read the wicked article, the family of the physician of the editor who had cured the latter of influenza three days before and made it possible for him to return to his work and break the law as he had done. Fifty-seven men who had read the article to their wives was quite a respectable addition to the list, and in natural order followed 57 wives who, with malicious giggling, had heard the news thus read.

Finally the parents of the editor were indicted for bringing such a monster into the world and the editor's brother for not having exercised a better influence over him.

This brother, however, was released. He was deaf, dumb and blind.

Eight hundred and thirty-two persons were sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and to more or less severe flogging with the bamboo. The fine new prison was now filled to the roof with the exception of a single cell. In this one the writer of the scandalous article very properly belonged out, unfortunately, after all these legal proceedings he could not be found.

The viceroy came. The inhabitants of the town, as many as were out of prison, crowded the streets and cried as he passed: "Hurrah! Hurrah!" for it had been announced that those who did not shout and those that remained in their houses would be properly punished.

The viceroy inspected the prison, saw a man or woman sitting in each cell and was highly pleased. The automatic flogging machine worked without a single hitch, and the hydraulic gallows exceeded the highest expectations of the illustrious inspector. He had heard of the wholesale convictions, and, delighted with Chi Hung Lang's sagacity, he handed him the second peacock feather and the red button. Then he said:

"But tell me, tiger of the lawbook, why is this cell empty? One more would have made very little difference."

Chi Hung Lang was not only a lawyer of the shrewdest kind, but also a diplomat, so he answered: "We knew no one else that could be indicted without the appearance of slight injustice. Perhaps your wisdom, O most noble one, is able to name still another who deserves punishment."

The most noble one slowly closed his left eye, and with a very cunning look he said:

"Tell me, Chi Hung Lang, tiger of the lawbook, lion of the paragraph, how does this atrocious article read?"

Chi Hung Lang carried the paper in his pocket and made haste to read it to his noble master. As he finished reading the viceroy said with a smile:

"That is not so bad, for between you and me, you know your wife wears No. 9. But here we have another who has helped spread abroad this wicked article, and he must be imprisoned."

"And who is it, O most high one?" asked Chi Hung Lang as he bowed in amazement at the wisdom of the viceroy until his cue curled on the ground between his feet.

"You yourself, tiger of the lawbook, for you have just read the paper to me. About 13 days and 12 blows on your feet, I think, eh?" said the imperial inspector jovially.

"You are the wisest of all wise ones; your wisdom has no bounds," replied Chi Hung Lang, a trifle disconcerted. Then he bowed again to the earth, took hold of his cue, led himself into the only vacant cell and with his own hands took off his shoes. —From the German in Short Stories.

Bogus Money Lenders in Paris.

From a Frenchman's point of view, everybody who lives well and dresses better than a bank clerk is put down as a spy in the employ of Bismarck, unless he is known to have any other occupation. But among these busy people without distinct profession there are those who lend their names and imposing appearance to enterprises which could exist only in the country where the "gogo" is always on the lookout for a rapid road to fortune. For example, the money lending agencies. Notwithstanding article upon article which has been written in the respectable portion of the French press warning people against them, they still go on and prosper. One has only to consult any day the smallest French paper which pretends to be the largest circulation to see half a dozen persons or societies advertising to lend money on simple signatures. The simpleton replies to the advertisement, states his requirements, is informed that the director will be able to obtain what he desires, that he must agree to pay so much per cent commission (generally very low) and deposit 22½ francs for sundry preliminary expenses. This he does and hears no more of the matter. Or, if he becomes anxious and worries the "society," he gets a polite letter to say that the "board of directors," having taken the matter into their serious consideration, regret that the securities offered are not such as to justify them in making the advance. His 22½ francs have been expended for the postage on one letter and the inquiries which have probably never been made. —Lippin-

Eli Hill, Lumber City, Pa., writes: "I have been suffering from piles for twenty-five years and thought my case incurable. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was recommended to me as a pile cure, so I bought a box and it performed a permanent cure." This is only one of thousands of similar cases. Eczema, sores and skin diseases yield quickly when it is used. C. D. Stevens
